Prayer of Garden Club

Father of all loveliness,
Teach us to understand the joy of color,
The harmony of form,
The beauty of proportion,
To know the real, art and nature
To be content with what we have,
But not satisfied until our Homes reflect the best in ourselves.
To appreciate the simple Joys of acquiring and Possessing, and to make
Our homes, and cities a Joyous place in which to live.

NATURE

Nature speaks in language olden,
Speaks in tones that all may hear;
Tells of ages that were golden,
Tells of storm-nights dark and drear.

She has secrets in her keeping,
Secrets hid from you and me,
They have been for ages sleeping,
Stored in earth and air and sea.

In the streamlets you will hear them,
As they ripple o'er the stone,
In the forests you are near them,
Near them in the desert, lone.

Hear them in the tempest raging;
Hear them in the summer breeze;
See them in the season's ageing;
See them in the spreading trees.

Every flower, it has its story;
Every stone its tale to tell;
Legends tint the sunset glory,
History moulds the mollusk's shell.

Get it Done

CLUB PLEDGE

I pledge that I will strive to bring peace and beauty to my garden, my town and my state by careful planting and by conservation of natural beauty. I will work with the club on its projects to the best of my ability and be present at its meetings whenever possible.

CONSERVATION PLEDGE

I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully defend from waste the natural resources of my country; its soils and minerals; its forests, waters and wildlife.

MIDWINTER LULLABY

Tucked in the sawdust or tucked in the peat,
The sleek dahlia tubers are sleeping so sweet;
The corms of the glads to repose I entrust,
Each carefully dusted with nice sulphur dust;
And the wind at the window hums softly and deep:
"Sleep little tubers and little corms-sleep!"

There, there they are snoozing, packed row beside row,
You just can't imagine those wee things can grow
As fast as they will, when it's planting time. Zoom!
In just a few weeks they will shoot up and bloom.
But there's frost on the beds. It might still snow a heap.
So sleep little tubers and little corms-sleep.

(Cont.)

MIDWINTER LULLABY (cont.)

The babe in the crib doesn't offer more thrill
To his hovering mother, than these babies will
To the garden fan, carefully bending above them
And planning their future, to care for and love them.
"This year I expect you'll win prizes
a heap,
Little tubers and corms, when you wake from your sleep."

SONG OF SPRING

I come, I come! Ye have called me long;
I come o'er the mountain with light and song!

Ye may trace my step o'er the wakening
earth,

By the winds which tell of the violet's birth,

By the primrose stars in the shadowy grass,

By the green leaves, opening as I pass.

DELIGHT IN IT

If, in your garden, some strange wild bird sing
Among the branches of your willow tree,
Do not ensnare and tame the precious thing;

Open your heart, enjoy its melody.

If, in your wandering through field
and wood,
You find a flower,
delicate and rare,
Let not your rough grasp on its being intrude;
Delight in it, but leave it growing there.

CITADEL

High on the hill there stands an oak,
Tall and proud, unbending.
It has watched earth's blooming come and go,
And seasons pass unending.
It has tasted the bite of sleet and snow,
It has basked in the warm of the sun.
It has worn the cloak of a million leaves,
And has stood a naked one.
It has watched the lightning strike at night,
White terror in the sky,
And the breeze has soothed and the wind has torn,
As they laughed and whistled by.
And let me live as the oak has lived,
Unsheltered on the hill,
With rain in my face when the thunders come,
And moon in my eyes when it's still.

Mary Elisabeth Nesbit

Oregon White Oak, which is only important oak found in the Northwest.

If you would know the song of the land
You must look, and listen and understand.
